School and Community

A model for innovation and reform in the 21st century, the Academy for Visual and Performing Arts (AVPA) is part of the Bergen County Academies (BCA), located in a multicultural suburban community within 5 miles of New York City. Students are accepted from across the county and commute up to twenty miles to a diverse public magnet school of choice with an enrollment of 1,050 students. BCA features career-focused academies operating as a cohesive unit to provide a dynamic, specialized, student-centered environment. Applicants from seventy towns in Bergen County are selected through a rigorous admissions process that considers middle school grades, standardized test scores, interviews, as well as assessments in writing and math. BCA has an extended school day from 8:00 am until 4:10 pm. Underclassmen, grades 9–11, devote Wednesday mornings to interdisciplinary projects and independent research. The faculty has many years of experience as instructors and industry leaders.

Curriculum

The AVPA theatre arts concentration is a rigorous training program for students interested in pursuing a college major in theatre or film leading to a career in some aspect of those fields. Core courses include sequences in acting, dance, theatre history, voice and speech, directing and writing. Electives are offered in costume design, musical theatre, stage management and stagecraft among many others. Theatre students are required to participate, either as performers or technicians in two major Academy theatrical productions each year. Working professionals in lighting, set and costume design create designs for productions and work with students as guest teaching artists. Our goal is to nurture creativity and imagination, develop skills and discipline and emphasize process. Rather than provide students with a single technique we introduce young artists to a variety of acting methods (i.e. mask work, Stanislavsky technique, viewpoints) encouraging them to learn to work in ways most productive for their individual growth.

Theatre concentration students will be prepared to audition for college and conservatory Theatre Arts programs (BA and BFA). More importantly, AVPA theatre students, because of their course of study, will be ready for almost any college major or career path encountered in the 21st Century. Students acquire a deep understanding of multiple perspectives and world views and a keen ear for the subtleties and nuances in language, music and movement. Moreover, they have enhanced and developed imaginative capacity, flexible ways of thinking, self-discipline, and sophisticated presentation skills.
